Natashya Holder is currently a pupil barrister under the supervision of Robert Pettitt.

Natashya studied her Bachelor's degree in Law at the University of Westminster, she sat on the Bar Society committee and worked for the 125 Student Fund. Natashya was awarded the Inner Temple exhibition scholarship and completed the Bar Practice Course and Master's degree at the University of Law in Birmingham. Through the University's Pro Bono clinic, she assisted on private Family Law matters for Women's Aid.

Following the completion of her studies, Natashya worked for Local Authorities in London in legal, social care and mental health departments. She worked directly with solicitors, social workers and multi-disciplinary practitioners during the COVID19 Pandemic, managing high-risk Public Children's Law matters. Additionally, Natashya was an Inquest Assistant for HM Coroners, handling evidence disclosure, jury summons and implementing systems to reduce case backlog. Before commencing pupillage, Natashya was a County Court Advocate, she presented over 500 Civil Law matters including debt recovery, civil litigation, insolvency, housing and interim applications.

Natashya is a Flight Lieutenant in the Royal Air Force Air Cadets, volunteering her time to promoting excellence amongst young people. She was the first ethnic minority and woman to take command of 241 (Wanstead & Woodford) Squadron since it was founded in 1941. She was also nominated for Junior Legal Professional the year 2026 sponsored by Birmingham Black Lawyers. She has maintained a strong commitment to supporting children and families through her previous employment and voluntary roles.

INTERESTS

Natashya enjoys water sports, namely scuba diving, paddle boarding, and swimming. She completed the National 3 Peak Challenge in 23 hours and 46 minutes and continues to hike in the Lake District and Snowdonia National Park. When she is not being active, she spends time playing chess, sudoku and travelling with her family.
